President's Message

June 2025

Greetings all!

We had our General Meeting this month and I have to say the turnout was a bit on the lighter side side. Besides Board members I think there were only seven members including Ray and Roy Galdi from North County. They announced another tour for June 28th to the Vista Tractor Museums show. Lots of fun and details elsewhere in the Ruckstell.

Also elsewhere in the Ruckstell you'll find the date change for the Campo Tour to the Transport Museum and the Buffalo Soldiers Memorial. June 14th. Plenty of upcoming tours clear into November!

As for those General Meetings, WE WOULD LOVE TO HAVE YOU JOIN US! WE MISS YOU! And as always, you are all welcome to our board meetings as well.

Thank you,

Kirby

Blast from the Past

By Eric Brown

With Summer speeding towards us like Rocky Mountain brake-equipped T going backwards downhill, I decided to write a short something about arguably San Diego's most enduring landmark, the Hotel del Coronado. It is currently (as of May) fresh off a six-year, $550 million renovation. Go and see it if you can! – Eric

Brief History of the Hotel del Coronado

One of the last-surviving Victorian -era wooden beach resorts in the world, the Hotel del Coronado ("Hotel Del" for short) begins its story in the mid-1880s with the purchase of 4,000 acres of land on Coronado Island for a measly $110,000 (about $3.1 million today... what a deal!) by a group of five former executives. At that time, it was common for a California developer to build a grand hotel to draw visitors to an otherwise barren landscape; other examples include The Hollywood Hotel in Hollywood, the Raymond Hotel in Pasadena, the Hotel Del Monte in Monterey, and Hotel Redondo in Redondo Beach. Of these, only the Hotel del Coronado and the Hotel del Monte still exist, and only the Hotel del Coronado still functions as a working hotel.

After some initial work founding the city and attracting residents with a land auction, construction of the hotel began in May 1887 with over 250 workers working diligently to shape the hotel out of lumber imported from all over the country: Douglas fir for framing and California redwood for exterior siding (thought to be termite resistant); hemlock and cedar were also on order. The lobby featured Illinois white oak, and the Crown Room ceiling would be done in Oregon sugar pine, chosen for its lack of knotholes. Landscaping for the hotel was completed by Kate Sessions (namesake of the popular San Diego park). The electricity was installed by the Mather Electric Company out of Chicago (not Thomas Edison, contrary to popular belief), making it the first hotel and generally one of the largest buildings in the country to have been "electrified." The Del also supplied electricity to the city of Coronado for many decades. Other technological assets of the newly constructed California resort included steam-powered hydraulic elevators (among the first in the country), a state-of-the-art fire sprinkler system, and telephone service. Construction and furnishing was completed in February 1888 to the total cost of $1 million. Room rates started at $2.50 a day.

of the largest buildings in the country to have been “electrified.” The Del also supplied electricity to the city of Coronado for many decades. Other technological assets of the newly constructed California resort included steam-powered hydraulic elevators (among the first in the country), a state-of-the-art fire sprinkler system, and telephone service. Construction and furnishing was completed in February 1888 to the total cost of $1 million. Room rates started at $2.50 a day.

Coronado was a popular tourist destination for decades following the hotel construction. Those that could not afford to stay at the hotel stayed in a “tent city” that was established by the hotel in a nearby area, which existed until 1938. The hotel was a popular getaway for Hollywood stars, authors, and U.S. Presidents, with many of them staying there over the years. Many movies were filmed on the premises as well (with 1958’s “Some Like it Hot” being one of the most well-known). The hotel housed many soldiers and naval officers during World War 2, but was never officially commandeered by the military as many other similar hotels were during the time (including the aforementioned Hotel del Monte, which still exists as part of a naval academy). The first major renovation occurred in 1961, just in time for a skyrocketing of popular access to the hotel with the completion of the Coronado bridge in 1969. The hotel was declared a national historic landmark in 1977. The hotel has expanded, added-on, changed hands, and been renovated many times over the years, but no renovation has been as extensive as it’s most recent that finished this year. Given its status as a San Diego icon, it should be around for years to come.

- You might be a ca'boy if you consider dirt to be a ca'girl's glitter
- You might be a ca'boy if you measure horsepower in its rawest form
- You might be a ca'boy if you never approach a bull from the front, a horse from the rear or a fool from any direction
- You might be a ca'boy if you never kick a cow chip on a hot day
- You might be a ca'boy if you never drive black cattle in the dark

The event will begin with a Thursday afternoon, October 16 arrival and check-in at the Pala Mesa Resort (2001 Old Hwy 395, Fallbrook, Ca. (760-728-5881)). A boot Scootin' Ice Breaker around the Rusty Water Bar will occur at 5:00PM in the parking lot. The fun filled three day tour will begin on Friday, Oct 17 with a tour of the picturesque southern coast of California from Oceanside to Del Mar (or further if you like). Linking a string of charming beach communities, Historic Highway 101 hugs the Pacific Ocean and offers a taste of California's surf culture that can't be duplicated anywhere in the world.

Day two will feature a road rally/tour. It is not a race and the directions will be clear. The intent is not to get you Cattle Drivers lost but to stimulate your creative juices as you progress along the trail. You will be presented with questions about the surroundings you encounter. Yes, it is a competitive event with valuable and highly coveted prizes awarded to the top three finishers so a navigator with a clip board is strongly recommended. Cars will depart in 2 minute intervals. Incremental departures are meant to keep participants from playing "follow the leader!" Yeah, like that is going to work!! The rally will culminate with an opportunity to visit Old Town Temecula followed by a BBQ at John and Karen Pepe's Ponderosa. Tri-tip, pulled pork, baked beans, and coleslaw will be served. Refreshments are of your own making.

Day three will consist of a tour to the Antique Gas & Steam Engine Museum in Vista where you will participate in the October Engine and Tractor Festival. Entry is free for your car, driver and one passenger.

While Dick and Helen Rash serve as barrelmen, Jim Skillicorn will demonstrate how to bull ride for 1.2 seconds just using a suitcase handle. Rowdy Chase discovered there is a down side to bareback bronc riding, but, you can't keep a good ca'boy down. Julie Cosner will demonstrate steer wrestling, tie-down roping, barrel racing, and breakaway roping, all skills she practiced on Greg. Some days it's a battle just to stay up in the saddle. Do these boots make me look fat??

So, don't be stepping on any compressed hay. Get a wiggle on and make a grubstake at the Pala Mesa hotel. Don't forget to Pony Express your registration. Giddy-up.

Stay tuned for more bull-foonerly!
